

Epinephrine at Camp

(Updated 2023)

Each summer camps have to address access to epinephrine as the potential for anaphylaxis is always present.

The Alliance for Camp Health recommends summer programs have access to epinephrine, understand where to purchase stock epinephrine, know state specific legislation for stock epinephrine use at camps, mechanism of administration, and necessary training for health personnel and staff.

When considering epinephrine for your camp, think about the following questions.

What type of administration mechanism can we use? There are many choices.

Who is trained to administer? Almost anyone can be trained to administer.

The camp should have a training available for those who will potentially be administering epinephrine.

Where to do we purchase? ACH has relationships with organizations for discounts on epinephrine for members.

What is the associated cost? Varies widely depending on decisions about the model of epinephrine administration chosen.

ACH works to stay abreast of the epi-options and share them with you. We have created a list of these options with the hope that you identify which type will meet the needs of your camp.

** Each camp must understand the state regulations for having stock (unassigned) epinephrine at camp. Currently, all 50 states allow stock epinephrine in schools. In addition, 34 of those states allow stock epinephrine in non-school entities (such as camp). Know your state allowances:
